Instructions

Our purpose is to promote responsible, multi-disciplinary exploration of near-death and similar experiences, their effects on people's lives, and their implications for beliefs about life, death, and human purpose. Where scholarship does not indicate a reasonably clear position on the origin or interpretation of these experiences, we remain impartial and open to the presentation of varying points of view; however, while all personal beliefs are respected, IANDS is under no obligation to consider them all equally supportable. Whatever the viewpoint, IANDS never supports proselytizing.

We are aware that many military medical professionals have limited training on how to assist service members who have had, and speak about, a near-death experience. During this conference, the service member or veteran will be able to speak to other medical professionals, scholars, and members of the general public who are thoroughly familiar with the NDE experience and many of the aftereffects.

We encourage you to visit the IANDS website conference.iands.org before completing this application. It will have the most current information on the main speakers and the workshops as the schedule develops. We hope that you will register for, and attend the conference, even if you are not selected for a registration scholarship. All attendees need to complete an on-line registration. IANDS will provide directions or assistance for the on-line process.

Please enter the discount code provided by the IANDS Office for the full registration. If you are currently on active duty and selected for a scholarship we will provide you a discount for the main conference only. This discount will not apply to workshops, meals or healing sessions. We hope you decide to attend the full conference and attend workshops in areas that spark your interest. If you are disabled, including those still on active duty pending discharge, the scholarship will include the full registration fee. Veterans will need to provide a copy of their annual VA compensation award letter.

IANDS will process all applications on a first-come, first-served basis. All selectees must register on-line, scholarship information will be provided. We will assist you as needed during this process.
